

RELEASE IN FULL

2003

United States, and to use the provisions in your provisions of this

Ad. Richmond

The Magnussen Act provides that if the President of the United States has declared that the country is endangered on four different things, ^{a later that US is endangered by} the President has, by executive order, subversive action, ^{he} ~~can~~ ^{has} delegate to take proper action to protect our ports, harbors and vessels of the United States. Under the executive order issued pursuant to the act, the Coast Guard has promulgated regulations which provide that the so-called captain of the port may take any steps necessary to protect the harbors or vessels of the United States.